The People's Column

The Eagle, I want to commend for its fairness in giving both sides of the question involved in this campaign for president of these United States and ask that you publish the following article:

CLOSING THEIR EYES

The wish is father to the thought when Josephus Daniels declares to the people of North Carolina that they may safely vote for Governor Smith because "modification of prohibition, as proposed by Smith, absolutely cannot be brought about." That is what Mr. Daniels would like to believe, and perhaps he has even persuaded himself to believe it. In this campaign it is the duty of a loyal dry southern Democrat to compel himself to believe that Governor Smith, if elected president, could not succeed in his war on prohibition. But to do this he must ignore numerous signs which point the other way.

Senator Borah pointed out one of the most obvious of these signs when he said to Mr. Daniels' fellow North Carolinians in a speech at Salisbury: "Mr. Raskob left his party and declared that he left it

BRYAN GETS DROP OF 44 DEGREES IN COLD SNAP

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Bryan where they will reside.

Murderer's Sentence To Death Is Upheld

HARRY LEAHY GIVEN DEATH PENALTY BY JURY IN WILLIAMSON

Sentence Affirmed for Killing of Dr. A. J. Ramsey, Mathis Physician, in Live Oak County, by Court of Criminal Appeals; Ramsey's Body Was Found in Shallow Grave

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—Harry Leahy's death sentence for the killing of Dr. A. J. Ramsey, physician in Live Oak county, was affirmed today by the court of criminal appeals. Leahy got 50 years in his first trial in Live Oak county. The case was tried again in Williamson county and Leahy was assessed the death sentence. Ramsey's body was found in a shallow grave. The State's theory was that Leahy had been trying to regain the ranch which Ramsey bought at a sheriff's sale.

Silver Is to Be Executed for Murder Friday

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 24.—Fearing efforts might be made from the outside to rescue J. R. (Bob) Silver from his death cell in the state penitentiary here, officials have doubled guards about the prison walls. Silver is to be executed Friday for the slaying of Roscoe Wilson, Fort Worth theater cashier, in an attempted hold-up.

Three Texas rangers have been at the prison for a week and it is understood they are to remain here until after Silver has been electrocuted.

Extra precautions were taken by the prison officials after a guard on No. 1 picket at the main gate reported that he had heard peculiar noises around his beat. A floodlight was installed illuminating the picket, and a bull dog has been kept tied nearby. With these added protective measures and the increase in the number of guards, prison officials believe a successful entry to the prison could not be forced.

None but those designated by law are permitted to see Silver, who already has been granted three stays of execution by Governor Moody.

McCutcheon Is Dead in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—George Barr McCutcheon author of "Beverly of Graustark" and other novels, dropped dead yesterday afternoon while attending a luncheon of the Dutch Treat Club at the Hotel Martineau. He was 62 years old.

He had been suffering from heart trouble for a considerable time. For the last 18 months he had not been allowed to take strenuous exercise, even having been denied permission to play golf.

McCutcheon was a former Indiana newspaperman and was formerly president of the Author's League of America.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 24.—Another indictment—the eighteenth—was returned by the Fulton county grand jury today against Clinton S. Carnes, treasurer of the Baptist home mission board, accused of embezzling nearly $1,000,000 from the board.

The latest bill charged embezzlement of bonds valued, according to the current market, at $12,908.88 and appropriating the proceeds to his own use.

Solicitor General Boykin stated there would be no increase in Carnes' $150,000 bond. Other indictments will be sought, Boykin declared.

Night Classes to Be Given at Bryan Schools

The Board of Education of the Bryan City Schools plan to offer evening classes for tradesmen. These classes will come under the industrial division of the Smith-Hughes Vocational Act, and there will be no cost for instruction to the people who take the work.

There will be an enrollment fee of one dollar, which is merely to show interest and good faith on the part of those who wish to enroll for the classes; the only cost to the students will be for the material they actually use in the class work. The Federal and State government will reimburse the city school of Bryan to the extent of 75 per cent of the amount paid out for instruction for these classes.

This arrangement will afford one more opportunity for the Bryan Public Schools to render service to the citizens of Bryan, and at the same time offers opportunity of vocational training, most excellent.

Classes will be organized for the following: auto mechanics—covering the theory and working principles of the various parts of the car, ignition system, etc.; building trades—blue print reading, estimating, steel square problems, roof framing, etc.; plumbers—plan reading, sketching layouts, joint wiping, welding, etc.

In order to enter one of the trade extension classes the applicant must be over 16 years of age, and have had at least one year of experience in his line of work.

The purpose of these classes is not to make more mechanics but to make better mechanics. Professor E. L. Williams and Professor C. H. Fern of the Department of Industrial Education are assisting Supt. Durham in organizing this splendid piece of work in Bryan schools. Mr. Durham will be glad to have any one who is interested in any one of these classes call on him or telephone him.

The Bryan Daily Eagle will be given notices from time to time as the classes develop and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity thus offered. Perhaps one of the first groups who will want such a training class for them under Supt. Durham's plan for evening schools will be the carpenters of Bryan. Mr. G. H. Fern of the Industrial Education Department of A. & M. College met with these men in their local hall in Bryan last Friday night and those present at the meeting seemed very much interested in such a plan. F. A. Bunting, president of the local union, invited Mr. Fern to talk to the men again next Friday, October 26, at which time he hopes to have a large number present.

He was accompanied to the ranch by Mangum and Sheriff Albert Haysser, Eagle Pass.

Oklahoma Family Has Close Call in Auto Wreck

What came near being a tragedy occurred about 7 o'clock this morning on West 23rd Street and Wheelock Avenue, when a big local automobile truck, driven by a negro, hit a Chevrolet sedan broadside, smashing the car and turning it around and completely over.

The sedan was driven by Bill Zigo of Oklahoma. He with his wife and four children were passing through Bryan en route from their former home in Oklahoma, where they will make their new home. Having shipped their teams, farming machinery and household goods through to Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Zigo and family were making the trip to Houston in their car.

The sedan was going south on Wheelock avenue, when the Bryan truck was running at a lively speed west on 23rd Street going toward main street. Neither driver saw the other it is said, and the collision took place with a great crash.

Mr. Zigo received several bruises and cuts on his head and face; Mrs. Zigo was badly cut across the face by the broken glass, and one of the girls suffered a sprained and cut wrist. It was little short of miraculous that every member in the car escaped, for the overturned automobile pinned several of the family under the wreckage.

The car was taken to a Bryan machine shop for repairs and Mr. and Mrs. Zigo were also taken care of for the day in Bryan. As soon as the car can be repaired, they hope to go on their way to Houston.

Votes Ticket for 64 Years

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—F. G. Crawford of Oakville, Live Oak county, has voted the Democratic ticket straight for 64 years and will do so again in November. He will be 86 his next birthday. Death is the only thing that would prevent him from casting a regular Democratic ballot, he wrote C. A. Wheeler, chairman of the Travis county Democratic campaign committee.

Crawford is a civil war veteran. His father was a government clerk under President Mirabeau B. Lamar when Texas was a republic.

"I don't believe we need this kind of spell-binder to arbitrate the family difference that exists among the democrats in this state," the governor said of Borah, who spoke under anti-Smith auspices in favor of Hoover for president.

"Last week I said I regretted the importation of an enemy of Woodrow Wilson to disseminate republican propaganda in this state, which has so loyally supported President Wilson and his policies. I notice that Senator Borah says that he had been misunderstood and that he was not an enemy of Wilson. When Senator Borah made his speech in April of 1917, condemning the selective service act and earning it Prussianism, militarism and contrary to the fundamentals of a free country, he did not talk or act like a friend of Wilson, then the undisputed leader of a mighty nation."

Moody Again Raps at Borah

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—United States Senator Borah's political appearance in Texas and the claim of friendship for the late President Wilson attributed to him were sharply attacked in a statement by Governor Moody.

The governor had been asked to reply to Borah's Dallas speech in an address of his own there October 25, but said again today that he had made no engagement.

"I don't believe we need this kind of spell-binder to arbitrate the family difference that exists among the democrats in this state," the governor said of Borah, who spoke under anti-Smith auspices in favor of Hoover for president.

"Last week I said I regretted the importation of an enemy of Woodrow Wilson to disseminate republican propaganda in this state, which has so loyally supported President Wilson and his policies. ## The Higher-Ups Should Not Sling No Use to Call Candidates Bad Names Any Highbrow Mud in Campaign

By LES AKERS

Yes Sir, I notice in the paper where a fellow they call a Sociologist says that Herbert Hoover is a Schizoid type and Al Smith a syntonic type which as far as I am able to understand means that mud slinging in this President Campaign is getting worse and worse. I can't see no reason for calling a man such names just because he is running for office. Anyhow, I think these high-ups should use names that we ordinary ever day fellows can understand and not be slinging any highbrow mud.

It seems to me that this campaign is to go down in history for being different and bringin out a lot of new names and beins as for instance a Hoover Demokrat which my nabor, Bud Wizer, has is a fellow who hasnt been a Republikan long enuff not to be ashamed of it and is a little timid about the color of a lot of his new brethren of the G. O. P. (Great Oil says that if Mr. Hoover could of stayed in Mr. President Hardings Party). On the other hand Ima Drigh says that Smith Republikan is a Republikan whose thirst exceeds his party loyalty and is tryin to make the Demokrat party a Demijohn party instid.

Any way this thing is so mixed up it has got to where it is real news and causes lots of excitement in some places when a Demokrat comes out for Smith or a Republikan for Hoover. Whole families is dividin on this race like for example two of my nabors, the Berger brothers, H. and Lem. Now, Ham says that the farm question cant be settled on the "Sidewalks of New York" and that all Al Smith knows about farmers is how to get their votes, but his brother Lem says that what what he likes about Al is that he has nerve enuf to come out and let folks have a fair chance to know where he stands on ever question and also and Coolidge's cabinet for 7 yrs.

and not know about the crookedness and graft and corruption that was goin on all that time he must certainly be too dum and stupid to be President, and that if he did know about it and didn't resign like Teddy Roosevelt's Son done or didn't speak out against it and let the peopl know then he in that case would have to be put down as dishonest and unfaithful to the American people and therefore unfit for our President.

Ham Berger says he hopes all the Smith Republikans gets shovelled away from the Republikan pie counter and has to live on Demokratish ranshons for the next four yrs., while Lem states that the most pleasant site in the world to crats shovelin snow off the Sidewalks of New York.

Anyway, there aint nobody goin to sleep during this show. So on with the dance.

Allen Academy to Play Against Corsicana High

Two of the best teams in the state of their class will play next Friday afternoon at Allen field at 4 o'clock when Allen Academy and Corsicana high school meet in combat.

Allen, smarting under their 13 to 7 defeat at the hands of Temple high school, will be keen for revenge and may take it out on Corsicana. Corsicana, however, is a serious contender for the State championship and in McNutt they are said to have the best half-back in the state among high school teams. Corsicana played Teague last week, and the papers stated that they outwitted Teague 40 pounds to the men.

Puny Wilson, coach of the Allen Academy team, stated today that he was well pleased over the showing of his team against Temple. Allen has been practicing for only a month and for this reason team play has not been developed as thoroughly as it has in high school eleven. Temple got away with two 40 yard passes, one of which netted a touchdown and the other came in two yards of it. It then required three downs for Temple to make the two yards.

Allen scored the first touchdown and would have made a second but for a fumble on the goal line.

Mike Barron of Bryan and Bud McLeod of Houston were the stars for Allen in this game. Bill Merka at guard and Slick Martin in the backfield, both of Bryan, also did well.

Temple turned out in mass for the game, all of the stores closing for the occasion.

The following line-up was used by Allen: Center—McLeod; guards, Nelson and Merka; tackles, Staples and Ashburn; ends, Trant and Barnett; quarter, Pratt; halves, Cunningham and Purkes; full, Barron.

The reason for Allen's defeat may subtly be expressed in terms of lack of generalship, the team not having an experienced quarterback.

Blackleg Found Among His Cattle

Joe Barnett of Steep Hollow was in Bryan Monday and reported an outbreak of blackleg among his cattle. County Agent C. L. Beason responded to the call, going by the Steep Hollow school for the club boys that they might learn to administer the aggressive treatment as a prevention against blackleg.

Mr. Barnett was advised to bury all carcasses as quickly as possible.

Sister of Bryan Man Dies Monday

Mrs. Tom Groves, of Tipton, Mo., sister of our fellow townsman, L. L. Stephens, died early Monday morning from a stroke of paralysis.

She was buried Tuesday.

The many friends of Mr. Stephens deeply sympathize with him in his irreparable loss.

Henderson Banding Wild Birds in Bryan

O. O. Henderson of Bryan, operating under authority from the United States Biological Department, Washington, D. C., has this year been banding many wild birds around Bryan and Monday, had his first report from his banding. Mr. Henderson was advised by the department at Washington that one of the birds bearing his official band number, had been killed by a hunter at Freeman, South Dakota. The bird was a Brown Grackle, and was banded here by Mr. Henderson early last spring when flocks of Grackles were in and around Bryan. He sets traps for these wild birds and while they are his captives, fastens the official government band, bearing his number on the leg, and then sets them free to continue their migratory flight north, south, east and west.

This is indeed fascinating work, and Mr. Henderson is deeply interested in it. He is banding native birds at this fall season before they take their departure for the warmer climates to spend the winter season.

TAYLOR BUSINESS MEN PAY VISIT TO A. & M.

Amos and Fontaine Forwood, owners of Forwood Bros. Furniture Co., and two of Taylor's most successful business men, were in Bryan today enroute to A. and M. College to have a conference with D. W. Williams, head of the animal husbandry department.

The Forwood brothers wanted authentic advice about the purchasing of thoroughbred cattle for their ranch.

While here they stopped at the LaSalle Hotel and were very enthusiastic in their praise of Bryan's new hotel.

A recent survey showed that there are 86,000 repair shops and service stations for automobiles in this country, yet the car always chooses not to run when 10 miles from the nearest station.

To Build Club House in New Mexico Soon

Mrs. J. C. Nagle, Texas club woman who has just returned to Texas from a summer spent at the Southwest Chautauqua at Las Vegas, N. M., has accepted the Chautauqua chairmanship for the responsibility of raising funds for the building of the Texas state club house on the Chautauqua properties at Las Vegas.

Nathan B. Stern of New York City has become interested in the Southwest Chautauqua Association to the extent of financing the building project which is necessary for their continued growth.

Each state in the association has been given a building site on which to erect a state club house. All membership dues for the next two years will be devoted to financing the building and furnishing of these houses. As the membership is limited to 2000 in each state, the funds for each state house will be the same.

William C. Munchoff, internationally known landscape architect, is in charge of the planning of the entire development. A pueblo type of building will be used throughout as this is the most harmonious type of building for New Mexico.

Mrs. William Bacon, president of the Southwest Chautauqua Association, has just returned from a conference with Mrs. Heman J. Pettengill of St. Louis, who is president of the Missouri Council, and Mrs. Phillip North Moore of St. Louis, who is in charge of the erection of the Missouri state house.

A.-M. Officials Visit at Brenham

A. B. Conner, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at A. and M. College, and A. D. Jackson, editor of the Experiment Station publications, were visitors to Brenham Wednesday afternoon, when they held an important conference with Congressman J. P. Buchanan and Leonard Tillotson of Sealy, representative from Austin county to the state legislature.

The subject of this conference was legislation to be introduced in Congress by Congressman Buchanan and in the Texas legislature by Mr. Tillotson on conservation of water.

The College Station experts state that between Brenham and Old Washington there is land that was washed forty years ago because it was not terraced. At the Spur experiment station an experiment was put on three years ago to measure the runoff of water. Those in charge of the experiment were amazed to find that forty-two tons to the acre washed off of comparatively level land, with two per cent grade. It was also found that the land was losing twenty-five per cent of the water that falls, as it dumps into rivers and other streams in unnecessarily large quantities.

Conservation of this water on the land where it falls, letting the surplus move off gradually, not only retains the water for growing crops, but also prevents heavy soil fertility loss and lessens hazards from overflow of rivers. Thirty per cent better crops are made where land is terraced level.—Brenham Banner.

Show Place in Austin Restored

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—A six-room two story brick house, built in 1853 by John G. Swisher, treasurer of Texas when it was a republic, has been torn down at its old location here and is being restored to its original design on the estate of Dr. Z. T. Scott, near Lake Austin.

Dr. Scott, who bought the house from the Texas-Mexican Presbytery had to demolish the structure to move it. Wings will be added.

Homer Griffith, Dr. S. E. Gideon of the University of Texas, and other artists have made interesting sketches of the historic dwelling, which has been one of the capital city's show places. A history of it is being written by Mrs. J. Lynn Hunter of Austin.

Daughter of Texas Republic Has a Birthday

INDEPENDENCE, Oct. 24.—This is the eighty-sixth birthday of Mrs. Helen Frances Clappitt Blue, a daughter of the Texas Republic. And from her home near here she looked out today over the same hills and valleys that greeted her first sight of this world.

It was among these same hills and valleys that her father settled when he came to Texas from Mississippi with Stephen F. Austin back in the days when Mexico ruled this land.

From the front porch of her home she pointed toward the stone columns of a fallen-in-building that was once the girls' school of old Baylor College.

"That" was where I went to school," she said. "And it was the finest school in all this state. I started to that school in the 50's, when they had only a wooden building. We were so proud when they got that fine new stone building. Now look what they've let it come to."

She talked of the old teachers, of the strict discipline which kept the girls from talking with the boys of the school on a neighboring hill, of shy glances across the aisles of the little church in the valley between the schools. But she met her boy friend just the same. And at the age of 17 she became Mrs. J. H. Blue.

It was only two years after that the young husband joined up with the company that was organized at Independence for Hood's Brigade by Capt. Jerome Robertson, who later became Brigadier General Robertson. Young Blue went away and was wounded at Gettysburg. His honorable discharge from Company I, Fifth Texas Regiment, hangs in a little frame in the front bedroom of her home.

Mrs. Blue enjoys talking about the past, but she enjoys the present. She loves life, she talks in a clear voice and without any of the incoherence heard often from octogenarians.

Sunday afternoon she sat in the sunshine and held in her lap the latest addition to the Texas Blues—6-weeks-old twin grandchildren. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Styles Blue of Navasota.

Another son of hers, Jerome Robertson Blue, lives in the same old half-stone, half-lumber two-story home where his mother is spending her later years. He has been living there 50 years himself. Also at this old home is one of five daughters, Mrs. Ben S. Rogers.

The other four daughters are Mrs. Edna Williams, who lives in another old Independence home that was frequented in the days before the Texas revolution by Gen. Sam Houston; Mrs. C. W. Styles of Port Lavaca; Mrs. B. F. Bailey of Cameron and Mrs. W. D. Lawrence of Bryan. Mrs. Williams' husband, Asa M. Williams, was the grandson of Dr. Asa Hoxey, whose sister married General Houston.—Clay Grobe in Houston Chronicle.

accessories such as balloons, whistles, horns, caps, etc. cetera were distributed, giving the banquet a Mardi Gras effect.

President Henry Locke called the meeting to order with a few well-chosen sentences of greetings. He then presented E. R. Bryant, who was in charge of the program, and who conducted the program. He rang a big cow bell, which he used instead of the gavel. He stated that all of the speeches had been written and presented to the program committee and that Ty Cobb's address of welcome had to be censored and would be read by R. V. Armstrong, whom he called upon to give the take-off. Mr. Armstrong, in his speech, modestly admitted that whatever success Mr. Cobb may have had in speech making, he Armstrong deserved the credit for it because he had loaned Cobb two books. His take-off was clever and brought a number of laughs from the audience.

Mrs. W. E. Neeley, who was on the response, refused to respond, saying that Mr. Cobb had gotten out of giving his speech and she, as a woman, demanded equal rights.

Following the serving of the delicious dinner, Mr. Bryant again rang the cow bell and several entertainers from A. and M. College gave several numbers. Brooks Conover and Walter Ewell, battle-scarred from football sang while Walter Penberthy accompanied on the banjo and Mr. Gregory accompanied on the piano.

Mrs. Fred Hale, wife of Lion Fred Hale, gave an excellent reading which was listened to with much interest.

Introduced by Mr. Bryant as the Lions' den trio, Mrs. Roy Danforth, Miss Mildred Salley, and Miss Kathleen Cason, accompanied by Dr. F. D. Fuller, sang two songs which also were greatly enjoyed.

W. E. Neeley was given a prize for his legal success.

Dr. F. D. Fuller introduced Hon. W. S. Barron, speaker of the evening. Dr. Fuller predicted great things of Mr. Barron, whom he congratulated for leaving Grimes county and coming to Bryan.

Mr. Barron complimented the Lions for their 10-year program and for their aggressive activities during the past several years. He also thanked the Lions for such a wonderful evening and commended them for the effort they had put forth to make the occasion a success.

The speaker said that Bryan's assets could be divided into the material, educational and spiritual. He called attention to the growth and development of the city, to the A. and M. College, Allen Academy, Villa Maria, and the public schools. He said he was glad to see the Lions back the public school development program. He said, however, that none was as important as our spiritual organizations, which he said were among the best in Texas.

He then declared that these characteristics could be applied to the individual as well as to the city, and that each person should seek to develop his material, educational, and spiritual qualities.

"We should not lose our idealism. We always need the buoyancy, the effulgence, and the enthusiasm of youth. I admire the dreamer of the dreams, and the builder of air castles. We never know when they may materialize," he said. He was given a prolonged ovation by the audience.

The singing was led by M. M. Erskine.

PEOPLE'S—

because he saw a chance to wipe out prohibition. Mr. Du Pont left his party and is contributing his money with a view to destroying the work which you have done. To these names might be added those of a dozen other Republicans of great wealth, including the country's largest investor in railroad securities, and the head of the greatest life insurance company in the world.

If Mr. Daniels believes that men of this type, with their close knowledge of the prohibition situation in the country and of Governor Smith's capabilities, are really following a will of the wisp, he has extraordinary capability for self-delusion.

Governor Smith last June, before he was even his party's nominee for the presidency, was sufficiently powerful to pull out from under Mr. Daniels' feet the low-tariff Democratic plank on which Mr. Daniels had been standing all his life, and to substitute for it a thoroughly Republican protective tariff plank. That fact ought to have given Mr. Daniels a hint of what Smith might later be capable of.

He ought to have taken another hint a few days ago, when Senator Robinson, hitherto as staunch a prohibitionist as Mr. Daniels himself, swallowed completely the light wines and beer part of Governor Smith's anti-prohibition program. Senator Robinson is still technically a prohibitionist, for of course he asserts that the light wines and beer are not really intoxicating. But would Mr. Daniels have believed in June that in October Senator Robinson would be for light wines and beer?

Mr. Raskob, Mr. Du Pont, and their colleagues on the directorate of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment are well warranted in believing that if Governor Smith has been thus influential as a candidate, he would be many times as influential if elected president. The country's sentiment on prohibition today is apparently about equally divided, pro and con. Smith as president of the United States, going into every part of the country to preach against prohibition—as he has promised to do—would powerfully influence public opinion. As a result, wet representatives and senators would be elected by constituencies which now elect dries. Moreover, men in congress who now vote dry would switch to the wet side in accordance with the change in views of their constituents. They would no more hesitate than Senator Robinson has hesitated.

In addition it must be borne in mind that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment would take a far more important hand than at present in election of senators and representatives. Abundant money would be available for propaganda against prohibition. A few of the wealthy wet Republicans now gathered around Governor Smith have combined fortunes of more than two billion dollars.

As a result of this richly financed anti-prohibition effort, with Smith as the general, there would be such a change in the personnel and the prohibition views of congress as would result in a modification of the Volstead act, by a wet Democratic-Republican majority, to permit light wines and beer. That would be the entering wedge. After that would come the second and more important fight—the complete abolition of federal prohibition as applied to states opposed to it.

Whether that would come in the precise constitutional form now recommended by Governor Smith does not greatly matter. If a few dry states should succeed in blocking his constitutional amendment, he could change his tactics. A mere majority of congress would be enough for entire repeal of the Volstead act; and if the Volstead act were repealed there would be no way of enforcing the eighteenth amendment.

Southern Democrats to whom prohibition is less important than other national questions may consistently vote for Governor Smith. But most southern Democrats would say that prohibition, if it were endangered, would outrank any other national issue. Mr. Daniels' position is simply that prohibition is not endangered. Those who make such an assertion are closing their eyes to the obvious facts. The election of Governor Smith would be the beginning of the end of federal prohibition.

The speaker said that Bryan's

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason and Home Demonstration Agent Lucy Givens

Mules On Market
Sam E. Cavitt, farmer-stockman, has just placed on the market a lot of fine, young, home-grown mules, one pair of which went to the A. and M. College at $400. Mr. Cavitt should feel complimented upon being able to sell mules to an exacting buyer as the College is. All who bought of him should know that they were getting stock which they have had an opportunity of knowing all the time, and not imported stuff, the purchase of which carries more or less risk. Why not buy from your neighbor, whom you know?

Council to Meet
The 4-H County Council decided to give more credit for the work it is doing to put before the people the real objects of club work. Many people do not yet understand the purposes of the work, and for that reason have not given hearty cooperation. All those taking part in the pageant will meet next Saturday for practice. Let every one be present and on time—2 p. m.

Progressive Farmer
C. A. Schram was observed to be taking out a one-horse seeder a few days ago. These machines are very handy in sowing oats, etc., in cotton middles. Mr. Schram is one of our most progressive farmers. He is sold on terracing and soil building. He markets his home-grown feeds through livestock, his fat stock always topping the market.

Build Up Land
Now is the time to build up those terraces before the heavy rains set in. Be sure the dry season will end of these days. One big rain may remove more soil than can be replaced in years.

To Conduct School
County Agent Beason has asked M. R. Bentley, terracing specialist of the Extension Service and A. K. (Dad) Short of the Federal Land Bank to conduct another terracing school in Brazos county this fall. Bryan, or Tabor, will likely be the place for the meeting.

Must Be Marked
The American Jersey Cattle Club announces that after January 1, 1929, all animals registered in that club will have to bear tattoo marks for proper identification, color markings being considered insufficient.

To Try for Prize
All 4-H Club boys expecting to compete for the Santa Fe prize trip to the International Club congress at Chicago this fall should turn in their records by Saturday, Oct. 27, and not later than Monday, Oct. 29. This is a wonderful trip, and Brazos county club boys have furnished a winner for the past five years. Who goes this time? Secretary Noble writes that great preparations are being made to entertain the club members this year. See your county agent.

Has Rare Honor
Tom Rich, 4-H Club boy of New York, enjoys the distinction of introducing the first purebred Jersey calf into Egypt. To prevent the customary slaughter at the dock, the Egyptian government issued a special permit for the transportation of the heifer.

Program of Work
4-H Club members of New York State have decided upon the following program of work: 1. Encourage a broader study and understanding of agriculture and country life. 2. Give greater emphasis to heart, health, civic and community service activities. 3. Make a more attractive year-round program.

Social Meeting
Last week the Smetana 4-H Club pulled off a social meeting, fried chicken, pickles, soda water, and potato chips being served as refreshments. Secretary Eberstadt auctioned off a cake for the benefit of the basket ball fund. County Agent Beason's lucky bid of $5.15 being five cents above the price set. Here's bettin' Principal J. D. Martin has a live club at Smetana next year. He knows how to interest young people.

Millican Notes

MILICAN, Oct. 24.—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. M. C. Meredith, Sunday, Oct. 7, at 3 p. m., when Miss Kathleen Meredith of this city became the bride of Jesse Tolbert of Hempstead. Rev. F. C. Hensley, pastor of the Methodist church read the marriage vows. The ring ceremony was used which made it very impressive. Simple decorations of potted plants and cut flowers were used in the hallway where they stood. The bride was attired in navy blue crepe with accessories in harmonizing color. Only relatives and close friends were present. Immediately after the ceremony the happy pair motored to Hempstead where they will make their future home. Both of the young people have a host of friends in our little town who wish for them a happy and prosperous life.

Mrs. E. C. Jameson of Decatur is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Burrows, while Mr. Jameson is at Arlington with other county agents and their terracing teams.

Cattle Judging Team Is Winner

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 19.
Competing against 28 other teams from the United States and Canada, dairy cattle judging team of the A. and M. College of Texas carried off honors for seventh place in the entire dairy cattle judging contest at the National Dairy Show in Memphis, Tenn., recently. In addition the same team made a sweepstakes record in the Southern Intercollegiate Student Dairy Cattle contest held during the national show, scoring as high team in all breeds, high team in each division and showing high individual score as well.

The four A. and M. seniors in dairy husbandry on the team include: R. E. Duckworth, Seymour; G. G. Gibson, Trinity; S.
Wood, Hillsboro, and J. D. Stafford, Palestine, the latter being alternate. Two members of the team registered high individual scores in divisions of the national contest. G. G. Gibson, Trinity, took first place in the Jersey division in which 81 competed, winning $400 scholarship given by American Jersey Cattle Club. S. Woods, Hillsboro, was high individual in Guernsey division.

In taking seventh place in the national contest, the A. and M. team made the highest record ever recorded for A. and M. team in this competition. Fifteen teams from the same number of states competed in the Southern Intercollegiate contest. It was the second time A. and M. team ever competed in the latter contest and the sweepstakes victory was a repetition of the 1923 A. and M. team's record.

"Christianity is power" declared Rev. W. W. Daup of the local Episcopal church at the Wesley Brotherhood of the Methodist church Tuesday night. "Power" is being sought eagerly by a struggling nation. There is financial power, political power, and educational power, as well as Christian power, the greatest of which is power and the easiest to obtain being the latter.

About the only big dailies in Texas supporting Herbert Hoover are those owned by William Randolph Hearst. This is one of the finest compliments that could be paid Governor Smith. Mr. Hearst has never forgotten the Democratic nominee for the political lashing he once gave him.

Governor Dan Moody has suggested the formation of a special committee of thirty-one, one from each of the Senatorial districts to work out a definite highway improvement program to put before the next session of the legislature for ratification. Under this plan there would be one representative from each Senatorial district. Texas is in dire need of a definite highway program and no better method could be adopted to give Texas a system of highways comparable with the best in the North and East.

Conditions in Bryan public schools this year are just as crowded as they were last year despite the temporary buildings that have been added. Within a few years we will have just one school in the county which is in keeping with the present centralization movement in public school education.

Bryan's first convention in recent years will be held in this city in January when the water school, composed of about 400 engineers of the State, will be in session for two weeks. If Bryan makes a success of entertaining and accommodating this convention, we may expect to have many more here within a few years.

The north end of Bryan's business section on Main Street is rapidly developing, new buildings being erected and additional enterprises being opened up. The trend appears to be in that direction, which is taken to mean that there may be a fall in the rents of much of the property on the south end of the street. The business section of Bryan is enjoying a real boom and it is likely to be continued for some time to come.

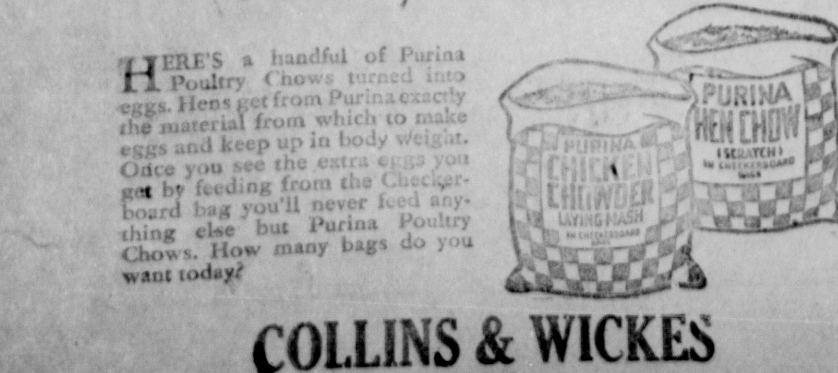

Miss Lucille Strather, 16, of Mexia, paid with her life for her folly of riding on the running board of an automobile. This is a very common practice among young people, and always is done in the spirit of thoughtlessness. A little act such as this often is the most costly.

Steve Petchinski, a miner, was shot and killed Monday while acting as a picket during a strike in the coal fields of Pennsylvania. This is a common occurrence in a locality that is strike-ridden, and is further evidence of the folly of settling labor disputes by the strike method. Any other plan is better.

Brazos County Teachers to Meet

The teachers of Brazos county are to meet in district court room Saturday, Oct. 27, at 9:30 o'clock, to participate in the following program:

At 9:30, remarks by the county superintendent; 9:40, election of officers for the year; 10:00, Prof. E. M. Walls of A. and M. College will give some plans for the track meet of the Intercollegiate League; 10:20, W. L. Hughes of A. and M. College, president of the S. T. A., will discuss the constitutional amendments.

At 11:00, biological knowledge as an asset to the teacher, by Dr. E. P. Humbert of A. and M. College; 11:30, county-wide record system to be discussed by Prof. Harvey Petry.

Anti-Root Rot Activity Pushed

County Agent C. L. Beason has received the necessary repairs for the broken crop, or frontage meter which was being used in the cotton root rot survey in Brazos county, and states that the work under the direction of Dr. J. J. Taubenhaus, has been resumed and will be pushed to completion.

While the work is primarily in the interest of the cotton root rot, a vigilant eye will also be kept on plant disease in general. Already the new disease, recently discovered in Ellis county, has also been found in Brazos county. As yet no name has been given this disease, but, like root rot, it affects the roots of the plant and in this turn, shows up in a dwarfed growth of the main stem of the plant. The field showing the greatest per cent of this new disease is found far to be that of John Barnes near Tabor. This may explain the poor yield many farmers are getting from their cotton. The solution to this problem will be taken up along with that of cotton root rot.

Kurten School Has 80 Enrolled

Dave Bunting, teacher in the Kurten schools this year, was a week-end visitor in Bryan. Mr. Bunting reports splendid work being done there, with 87 students enrolled at the end of the first school month. The school spirit is reported the best in years, and all activities of the school program progressing well.

A domestic science department is being fostered this year for the first time by the girls of the school the class serving hot lunch once every week to the entire student body.

Another attractive feature at Kurten school this year is having general assembly twice each week with special speakers and programs of educational type for the information and inspiration of the students.

A special program has been arranged for Friday night following Halloween, the date falling on November 2. At this time a general good time provided for everybody. The Kurten school invites all friends to come out and visit the school on that date, Friday, Nov. 2.

Unintentional Suicide

Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank kerosene every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins, or poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their constipated digestive systems. Sooner or later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

During the last week there will be general discussion in Bryan. Lectures and discussions will be held on "Treatment of Water and Sewage."

Prof. E. W. Steele of A. and M. College is director of the school. City Manager J. Bryan Miller, Dean F. C. Bolton, and Prof. F. E. Giesecke are general chairmen.

Farm Girls Now Abound in Wealth

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 22.—It is hard to picture an oil well taking the place of a fairy godmother in meeting all of the wishes imaginative childhood might make—but three little farm girls of near here are recipients of more wealth than they will ever need, and an oil well that discovered the Yates pool in Pecos county is directly responsible for their good luck.

The girls are 16, 12 and 11 years of age and live with their grandmother in her country home where they have been cared for since the death of their mother, Mrs. Pearl Matthews in 1917. Their grandmother is guardian of the estate, and through her wise investments the enormous income from the property now worth a million dollars, will probably be worth a million and a half by the time the girls are old enough to divide the estate.

Each has carried a double name which is used fully by members of the family and their acquaintances. They are Lennie Lorene, 16; Minnie Pearl, 12, and Willie Mae, 11. They own 750 acres of land adjacent to the discovery well in the Yates pool, and its value has increased steadily since the first find was made. New and bigger gushers brought in lately have enhanced the value of the property.

The children attend the Christian Sunday School regularly, and are deeply interested in their studies at day school. Their father is a carpenter, and continues to follow the trade despite the enormous wealth of the family. Explaining that he did not want to take any chances of making unwise investments of the children's funds, he refused to take guardianship of the estate. His daily garb includes paint stained overalls and a well worn hat equally soiled.

A modern brick bungalow has just been completed on the farm, where the children enjoy every convenience that a rural home could afford. While they used to ride to school on horseback and enjoy it, their grandmother has provided a new car for their use in making the daily trips.

The older girls have their ambitions—one desiring an education above all else, while the other is ambitious to enter the business world.

"Now that you have all the money you will ever want, what are you going to do with it?" the three girls were asked as they sat on the front porch of their country home.

Lennie Lorene, who is in the seventh grade and leader of her class was first to speak. "I am going to school as far as school will take me. I want to be educated," she said.

Red haired Willie Mae, who is in the sixth grade and takes going to school as merely a means to an end, replied: "I am going into business after I finish college."

Minnie Pearl, an almost constant companion to her grandmother and who exhibits greater interest in farm pets and toys than do the other children, is content with things as they are. "I want to stay with grandma," was her answer.

Texas Caterpillars Are Living Aboard

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—An army of Texas caterpillars of a variety which live on cactus has been turned loose in the prickly pear beds of New South Wales, Australia.

The insects were reared from eggs acquired in Texas by the Australian experts who have endeavored to obtain help in fighting the cactus which is damaging the Australian grazing ground. A report to the committee department today said that the experiment had just got under way.

MRS. WARD IS SPEAKER FOR DEMOCRACY

HOUSTON LAWYER QUOTES FROM RECORD AND CONTRASTS CANDIDATES

Mrs. Hortense Ward of Houston, Texas' first woman lawyer and the first Southern lady ever to argue a case before the Supreme Court of the United States, last night won the admiration of her audience of 500 people as she applied the light of learning, the force of facts, and the simplicity of statesmanship to the issues in the present presidential campaign. The gifted jurist, statesman, and mother of three daughters, argued with a sincerity that was singular and clarity that was convincing. Effeminate but none the less effective, she swayed her audience by reasoning and not by abuse, by appealing to their intelligence and not to their prejudices, and quoting only from the official record, and not from a conclusion based upon a false premise or no premise at all. She was liberally cheered and at the end of her speech practically the entire audience came forward to congratulate her, many saying that "It was the best speech I ever heard."

M. E. Wallace, county Democratic chairman, presided over the meeting, while Ty Cobb introduced her following an eulogy to the part women played in the progress and development of the world's foremost institutions.

Mrs. Ward reviewed briefly the history of the two leading political parties, showing that Alexander Hamilton who founded the Republican party believed in centralization of power, while Thomas Jefferson, father of the Democratic party believed in government of the people and for all of the people.

Tammany Hall, which has been mentioned often in this campaign, was defended by Mrs. Ward. "Of course, there have been some bad men in the organization in its 40 years of history, but they can point to only three defamed leaders, Boss Tweed, Boss Murphy, and Boss Croker." Then she named more than 15 Republican leaders who had been corrupt in the past seven and a half years showing that Tammany was saintly in comparison to Bill Thompson's machine in Chicago and Vane's regime in Pennsylvania.

She recited at length the Republican corruption of the past seven and a half years, mentioning specifically the Naval reserve and Elks Hall lease in oil circles, and the power control for electricity. She showed that those who are acting as secretaries to the Republican party and to Candidate Herbert Hoover were connected with those scandals.

"Many women say Herbert Hoover is a wonderful man. I challenge anyone to point to one feat of engineering or one great feat of administration in his record. During the war he bought hams from the packers and paid them so much that in 1917 one company made $27,000,000 excess profits. He told the women to wear gingham, and gingham immediately advanced from 10 cents to 30 cents a yard and has remained at that price ever since. Twenty million American women sent in a dollar to belong to the Hoover club, and many sent 10 cents for a Hoover button with his picture thereon. Now they are giving you his buttons free," she smiled.

The Republicans, she said, have spent $500,000,000 not to enforce the Eighteenth amendment, and federal prohibition enforcement has become a joke. Then she quoted from Smith's speech of acceptance where he pledged to enforce the prohibition and all other laws.

Hoover, she declared, answered "yes" and "no" to every question, except to those on corruption and graft, and he is silent on them.

The religious matter was discussed at length, she showing that our forefathers guaranteed religious freedom and that religion should not be a prerequisite to office-holding.

"Nothing is more un-American than to vote against a man for his religion," she stated. She cited more than 12 laws that Smith had advocated in New York State for the advancement of the masses. "Those who know Governor Smith personally, irrespective of place or creed, fairly idolize him," she said.

She closed her address with an effective appeal not to place the campaign upon a religious basis, but to vote for the party that will be of greatest good to the greatest number.

Texas Growers of Figs Prosper

GALVESTON, Oct. 17.—Texas fig growers are realizing a profit of approximately $35 an acre if figures announced by C. W. Van Dyke, vice president of the Texas Fig Growers Association, follow an average trend.

His grove of 1 acres in 1927 averaged about two tons an acre. The top price received on the early market ranged from five to six cents a pound and averaged thru the season about four cents.

Cultivation, pruning, spraying picking cost $45 an acre, resulting in the $35 net profit. Favorable seasons will produce larger yields than in 1927, Van

First Requisite of Running Water on a Farm Is Ample Source That Is Free From Any Contamination at All

By NELL BENTLEY

Farm families who are planning to install running water in the home will do well to recall the old English recipe for rabbit pie which began thus: "First catch a hare." They should remember that before pipes and plumbing fixtures can be of any practical value, there must first be an adequate supply of water available. Not only should the supply be ample for the average household needs but it should be free from contamination with filth or disease of any kind.

Any farm home having a sufficient and safe water supply can install running water at a very small expense, particularly in our mild southern climate where the item of frozen pipes may be so nearly disregarded in the plan of installation.

Perhaps the simplest and cheapest system consists of a barrel, a steel gasoline drum or a small galvanized tank, set on a platform slightly higher than the kitchen sink. This may be just outside the kitchen wall or even at some little distance from the house and the connection be made by running one straight line of pipe from the barrel through the kitchen wall to the sink. Without the pressure created from an elevated tank, a fairly large pipe should be used so that the water will not run too slowly, and two barrels or drums, connected with a pipe at the bottom doubles the storage capacity at small expense.

If the storage barrel is placed near the well, it may be filled by attaching a short line of hose to the pump, or if the water must be drawn by hand the menfolks can fill the barrel two or three times a day thus keeping a supply on hand.

Even with this simple system there should be a drain pipe from the sink provided with an "S" trap to prevent foul odors from the drainage escaping through the sink. Usually a pipe extending a few feet from the house and emptying into an open furrow or a sand bed with a few loose rocks under the sand, will prove very satisfactory. With a little careful planning, drain water may also be used to irrigate shrubs, trees, flowers or vegetables.

Where the well is near or under the house, an ordinary pitcher pump may be installed at the end of the kitchen sink at a nominal cost for pipe and connections. If the well is more than 25 to 30 feet deep, the valve will have to be lowered so that the cylinder is not more than that distance above the water. Pitcher pumps are not satisfactory in wells that exceed about 35 feet depth.

If there is a windmill or power pump in operation on the farm an elevated tank of ample storage capacity will be found entirely practical in most instances. Such an arrangement with a tank of medium storage capacity, would provide for a sink, wash basin and bathtub, and one piece may be installed each year without seriously depleting the farm's working capital at any time.

Stationary laundry tubs and a water toilet are additional plumbing equipment well worth considering in planning a farm home system.

Why not begin to do a little careful planning now. Considering in the following order, and installing as farm capital and circumstances will permit: Water supply, kitchen sink, wash basin, bath tub, laundry tubs, water toilet, hot-water tank and heater. Your local dealer and your demonstration agents will be glad to help you in your planning, and if you avoid sheer ornateness, and absolute failure in the matter of waste delivery and waste disposal, you will provide comfort and convenience in your home without regret—times the money invested regardless of how simple or how complete your system is when finished.

Campaign speeches do not very often change votes, but sometimes they help us to decide whom we do not want to vote for.

Bulletin Tells of Texas Trees

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 19.—Ninety-two of the most common and important forest trees found in Texas are sufficiently described for identification purposes in a new publication, "Forest Trees in Texas," just issued by the Texas Forest Service, A. and M. College of Texas, in cooperation with the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. The publication, issued as Bulletin 20, carries illustrations for every tree described.

Character of the wood of those trees of commercial importance and the purposes for which it is utilized are discussed in this tree manual which should prove of value to the public schools and boys' and girls' organizations as well as professional botanists and others interested in Texas forest resources. The text is phrased in non-technical language and is available for free distribution upon application to the Texas Forest Service at A. and M. College, E. O. Sieck, director of the service, has announced.

Texas has a large variety of native trees, foreword of the manual sets forth, there being altogether about 225 species and some 53 varieties representing about 86 general, or three natural tree groups.

City plumbing codes have so simplified types of plumbing and fittings during the past few years, that the services of a licensed plumber are not required to make connections and install fixtures except perhaps for some of the more important connections necessary in installing the water toilet. The dealer from whom you buy your fixtures will be glad to make your "S" traps for you at nominal charge, and will help you to make complete working plans so that the matter of installation will be about as complicated as the operation involved when you assemble a new piece of farm machinery.

A stillson wrench, some white lead for the joints, and a bit of mechanical genius are about the only requirements, outside of the willingness to take the advice of your dealer and the ability to follow a working plan after it has been prepared by someone who does know the essentials of plumbing installation.

Why not begin to do a little careful planning now. Considering in the following order, and installing as farm capital and circumstances will permit: Water supply, kitchen sink, wash basin, bath tub, laundry tubs, water toilet, hot-water tank and heater. Your local dealer and your demonstration agents will be glad to help you in your planning, and if you avoid sheer ornateness, and absolute failure in the matter of waste delivery and waste disposal, you will provide comfort and convenience in your home without regret—times the money invested regardless of how simple or how complete your system is when finished.

Steeple Hollow Cemetery Club Holds Meeting

The annual meeting of the Steeple Hollow Cemetery Association held each year on Nov. 11, is an occasion of much interest to all our people and also to the surviving members of those pioneer families who founded the community center in the long ago.

Many of the former sons and daughters of Steeple Hollow now live in other parts of Texas and some in other states, but the love for the dear old church, school house and "silent city" at Steeple Hollow remains the same. On these annual meeting days, many return to mingle again with former friends and relatives, and to visit again the graves of their forefathers who sleep in the neat and well kept cemetery near by.

C. M. Risinger, president of the association, I. M. Cook, business manager; Mrs. Laura Mims Hicks, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. I. M. Cook, chairman of program, urges a large attendance this year on the second Sunday in November which will be Nov. 11. A full attendance of the board of directors and all members is urged. There will be an all-day program, and dinner at noon for all, under the big trees near the church.

The program for the day will be published in full later and in the meantime make arrangements to spend that day at Steeple Hollow.

Adults Contract Children's Diseases

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the worms, which are round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults—White's Cream Vermifuge, which you can get at Roman & Vick. (Adv.)
